Seattle's Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center has been at the forefront in the fight against cancer, one of humanity’s biggest health crises, for decades. Unique opportunities like Fred Hutch’s Climb to Fight Cancer offer hope for those who’ve been affected by cancer.

Ascend some of the world’s most breathtaking peaks and change these odds

Anyone can climb
- Friends and family honoring loved ones
- Survivors
- Men and women of all ages
- Hikers
- Experienced climbers
- Beginning climbers
- Marathons
- Outdoor enthusiasts
- Cyclists
- People seeking a new personal challenge

Make a difference

Contributions from individuals, corporations and private foundations fund critical areas of need that may otherwise go unsupported.

Donations directly support:
- Early stage ideas and innovative studies that push the boundaries of science, but for which federal funding is not yet available.
- Researchers’ ability to react quickly and tackle promising research leads.
- Technology, facilities and other resources enabling our investigators to work collaboratively and efficiently.
- Support Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center and save lives.

It’s that simple.